

women used to wear liberal & revealing clothes including very short mini skirts in the sixties & seventies (see old photos of women in Cairo, Baghdad, Afghanistan..etc) , & despite this no one of the Islamic scholars or Sheikhs of Azhar or any Islamic institutions at this time denounced or slurred this fashion , so were these grand scholars ignorant of religion ?, on the contrary , they were much conversant of religion & this is why they did not give this issue a real importance because this wear issue is not at all fundamental in religion & by the way , the people at that time were much more ethical & the society was much more safer than today with almost zero rate of rape & very low murder crime / other crimes rate compared to nowadays rates where the societies are crammed with veils & beards

.....BEARD IS NO MUST

1) Beard maybe regarded by some as a sign of wisdom , reverence , ascetic or virility , but any must in Islam should be mentioned in Quran as a must & Quran does not say anything about beard growing as a religious or piety requirement or preference . Also , it is not a Sunnah & the so called 'hadith " about beard must is just a fake hadith just as the myriad of many fake hadiths that mar the Islamic religion ,Note all the KUFFAR & DISBELIEVERS & ENEMIES OF PROPHET \(PBUH\)HAD LONG BEARDS . Also Jewish Rabbis & Christian priests & Sikh & Hindu religious people have long beards .Some straight men & some homosexuals have beards , some genius men & some nuts mad men have beards, some ethical guys have beards & some criminals & murderers have beards , some pious men have beards & some terribly fornicated men have beards . So beards are not really a cause of piety neither a specific feature for any caste or faction.

2) If Prophet Muhammad had a beard then this was because it was the men normal look at his time & society , moreover there were no modern shaving razors/ kit as of today at his time making daily beard shaving using knives or daggers or large blades a heck of trouble & facial injuries . Prophet Muhammad had no car & rode a camel & lived in tent not in modern house & wore a galabeya no jackets or pants ,used no shower or tapped water or modern life tools but rather primitive tools & wore the clothes & lived life style relevant to his time . These are the tools & habits & clothes of his time & not Sunnah .Islam Sunnah is about ethics , worship & good treatment to others & not a beard .Of course no objection to any beard growing since it is a personal freedom & many religious figures from different religions choose to grow their beard as a sign of ascetic or wisdom but it should not be falsely claimed that it is an Islamic must or a piety requirement .

3\) ON THE DOOMS DAY ALLAH WILL JUDGE US AS PER OUR ACTS \(GOOD & BAD \)& WILL NOT DECIDE OUR FATE TO HELL OR HEAVEN BASED ON OUR BEARD LENGTH .GOOD MUSLIMS BETTER BE KNOWN BY THEIR GREAT MANNERS RATHER THAN THEIR GREAT BEARDS
